

Anastasié Ndah fully trained as a minister and recognized as an evangelist. She served as a licensed ministerial 1986-1992 in Central South Cameroon. (far left with converts)

When Dr Irací Castelo Cunha retired from teaching at the Brazilian seminary, she converted thousands. How different would the church be if her whole career was sent in evangelism?

Margaret Ramsarran, who went from a civil engineer lay evangelist to a commissioned pastor in Guyana. Her annual evangelistic series, which she is still holding at the age of 94, have converted hundreds.

Hepzibah Kore organized the Shepherdess in Andhra Pradesh India to run multiple evangelistic series in 2002 converting 1119. She went on to lead Women's Ministries in literacy training efforts.

Rosa Lee Jones was a bible worker at a Manhattan church blessed with 1000 new members. She started a new convert choir, a novel and effective retention method.
